EVERETT TRUE—FAN.

Beautiful weather, eh? Yes, fine for Esquimaux. What's the matter with this weather man, anyway? What's he paid for? Giving the people weather they don't want? I was planning to go over to Cincinnati tonight to see the Pirates open the season tomorrow, but d'ye think I'm going to freeze to death? No, sir, I'll stay at home and toast my shins. Confound such days as this, anyway.

EVERETT TRUE, FAN.

If I was Mary MacLane I'd say, "From all such weather, kind devil, deliver me," but I never use such strong language. Confound it, though, ain't it disgusting? I had a hunch yesterday that the Pirates would revenge themselves on that Red tribe, and I stood out in Fifth avenue under this old umbrella waiting for the score to be post. When "No Game" went up, I felt like going up to the weather office, and assaulting that fellow that handles the rain wagon.

THE SCORE IS 5 TO 1

Three of the Boys in Blue Land on Blakeney for Two-Baggers

EVERETT TRUE ON GAME

That bunch of dubs that plays on the Houston team are as warm as cakes of ice, and if Fort Worth can't run up a bigger score than that they ought to come home.

PANTHERS BEATEN BY UNLUCKY 13

Baker's Dozen of Hits Win for Galveston

MAKE THIRTEEN RUNS

Sand Crabs Have Merry Time With Local Optionists by the Seawall —Twelve Innings at Dallas

EVERETT TRUE ON TUESDAY'S GAME

Tied for last place; 14 to 1.
Wonder how they got that one.

PANTHERS BAT OUT VICTORY

Two Home Runs Fail to Beat Fort Worth

BRIERLY HAS THE EYE

Three Hits Made in Succession by Catcher—All Swat the Ball Except Pitcher Dupree

EVERETT TRUE ON WEDNESDAY'S GAME

Maybe Brierly and the rest of the bunch didn't hit the ball to beat two home runs.

GALVESTON WINS AGAIN

Bunched Hits Defeat Harder Slugging by Panthers

Everett True is too much overcome to make comment on the game.
